

84TH CONGRESS OPENS SECOND SESSION

Area Communities Tell Economic Plight

Give True Story At Sink Or Swim Meeting

Federal, State Officials Hear Reports By 32 Speakers

Citizens from all walks of life Saturday gave firsthand accounts of southern Illinois' economic plight to government officials and now they wait to see if they will get help.

Thirty-two speakers from "Little Egypt" communities gave their pictures of the area's economic situation at the "sink or swim" meeting called by Rep. Kenneth Gray in the high school gym here. The Democratic congressman from Illinois' 25th District said he called the meeting to give federal and state officials "the true story of economic conditions in southern Illinois."

"We are not beggars, or paupers, but we do ask for help in getting the tools to help ourselves," Gray said at the start of the meeting.

Officials Present

Present to hear the stories and report them to the President were two representatives of the U. S. Department of Commerce—Clyde Miller and A. L. Rascher. Also there were U.S. Senator Paul Douglas and men representing the U. S. Secretary of Labor, Illinois State Director of Labor, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Interstate Commerce commission, Small Business administration, Illinois Industrial Planning commission, the U. S. Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, members of the Illinois state legislature and Cong. Charles Vorse of Salem, formerly the congressman from this district.

For 90 minutes, the community delegates—ranging from a banker to a commercial fisherman—told the 24 government officials and legislators the area's needs include: New industries; public works projects such as highways and streets; city halls, new schools and additions to old ones; improved water and sewage systems; artificial lakes for water supplies and recreation; flood control and dredging projects to make the Big Muddy and Saline rivers navigable and provide cheap transportation for southern Illinois coal; control of water pollution; and new sources of electric power.

Atty. Don Scott of Harrisburg, speaking for all of Saline county, pointed out the unemployment due to closing of coal mines and declared: "Now we have in Harrisburg a nice new factory building we want occupied by a small factory."

Brother of Elder Aaron Reeder Dies

Elder Charles F. Reeder, former resident of the Ledford community, died Monday at 2 p. m. in Boise, Idaho, at the age of 68. He had been suffering from a heart condition for some time.

Elder Reeder was born in Mt. Vernon, Ind., Oct. 22, 1887, and spent his early years in Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois, becoming permanently established in the Ledford community at the age of 13. He was a member of the Blue Springs Missionary Baptist church where he was ordained to the ministry about 30 years ago.

He entered the army in World War I and soon after receiving 30 honorable discharge moved to Idaho where he spent the remainder of his life.

Elder Aaron Reeder, pastor of the Ledford Primitive Baptist church, is a brother and the only surviving member of the family. He was preceded in death by his father, Elder C. M. (Uncle) Reeder, and an elder brother, Isaac, who was found dead in his home a few years ago.

The body is being returned to Harrisburg and will be received by the Gibbons funeral service. The time of arrival and funeral plans are not known.

Communists Gain Seats In French Assembly; No Stable Government in Sight

PARIS (AP)—The forces of rabble-rousing anti-tax crusader Pierre Poujade and those of the Communists made sensational gains today in crucial national parliamentary elections that all but killed hopes of a stable government for France.

The Communists gained 52 seats for a total of 146. The Poujadists, who held none in the old assembly, won 51.

Pierre Mendes-France's left-center republican front ran better than expected, but it trailed the right-center front of Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay. The remnants of the Gaullists were nearly wiped out. The results meant that no single party gained a majority of seats in the new National Assembly. The only hope of forming a new government will be another coalition, perhaps by the forces of Mendes-France and Faure or of Mendes-France and the Communists.

Mendes-France, however, already has rejected a Communist offer to join forces, describing the suggestion as an "insult."

Official Election Figures
But, ironically, the vote assured more instability than before. If a new government is to be formed, when the new assembly meets Jan. 19 there will have to be more political horse-trading of the type which bred previous instability. In addition, the outcome raised the spectre of more elections.

Results issued by the Ministry of the Interior for 552 of the 594 seats at home and overseas showed:

Communists—146.
Republican front (Mendes-France)—148.

Center-right front (Faure)—181.
Gaullists—18.
Poujadists—51.

Other rightists—3.
Others—5.

But the Communists and the Poujadists had so much strength they could topple government after government unless some political miracle took place. The Communists became the largest single party in the assembly.

No one was taking the Poujadist victory anything but seriously. The group which has been accused of anti-semitic and described as fascist came into existence only a few months ago. Mendes-France himself warned it would be a "serious mistake" to underestimate the danger of the Poujadist surge.

The following gifts, a certificate for which will be presented to the parents at The Daily Register office, have been donated by the Harrisburg merchants for the first baby of 1956:

Pair of Ideal baby shoes from the Fashion Palace; six Bluebird nursing bottles, complete "sterile," from Ray's drugs; a quart of milk each day for a month from the Harrisburg Dairy; Prim hose for the mother from Arensmann's; a Pram circus from the Barter drug store.

Altires Given Farewell Reception At Closing of Store

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Altire were given a store-closing farewell last night following the auction at their store, Everybody's Drug Store on North Main street. The auction lasted until nearly midnight and customers and friends remained for a "farewell" gathering for the Altires.

Mr. and Mrs. Altire have been in business in Harrisburg for 26 years and opened the first Everybody's Drug Store at Midway on South McKinley in 1930, which they sold in 1949. They opened Everybody's on North Main street in 1936 which they continued to operate until its closing last night. The store had been in its present location for 10 years and customers expressed that closing the store was "like moving the court house."

Mr. Altire has been in the drug business for 36 years and at present is county and city director of Civil Defense. Future business plans of Mr. and Mrs. Altire are indefinite.

One Dead, 86 Westinghouse Strikers Held

Violence Flares During Mass Demonstration

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One man died and 86 strikers were arrested during a mass demonstration of strikers at the local Westinghouse plant.

Sheriffs deputies reported 74 men and 12 women were jailed. Cars of workers attempting to enter the plant were smashed and at least 7 persons suffered injuries during the uprising staged by some 2,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Troy Tadlock, 27, Grove City, died during the demonstration which started at 4:10 a. m. CST. There were no marks on his body, officials said, indicating he died of natural causes.

The 86 strikers who were arrested were held in the bullpen of the Franklin County Jail on charges of inciting a riot. Company attorneys said charges of contempt of court probably would be filed later.

Union Charges Brutality
All available police and sheriff's deputies were sent to the scene. The company claimed some 1,700 workers had returned to their jobs during recent weeks. A court order had been issued limiting pickets at each plant gate following earlier violence at the plant.

Company officials charged the union with a "complete disregard for law and order" in staging the mass demonstration.

"Cars were turned over, windshields and car bodies were battered and destruction was aimed at anything coming in view of those pickets at each of our plant entrances," a company statement said.

The union countered that the company had refused to "bargain in good faith" and had spent "millions of dollars in strike breaking."

The union called Sheriff Ralph Paul's handling of the situation "one of the worst cases of police brutality ever seen in such a situation." The local was taking statements from pickets in preparation of a formal protest.

Pickets gathered at the plant throughout the night, while officials were mustering officers and deputizing Columbus police. The plant is located outside the city.

Pickets began stopping cars as workers arrived. At least four cars were overturned in the roadway, blocking or partially blocking plant entrances. Windshields of at least six other cars were smashed.

Many of the returning workers left the scene in the face of "Scab" go home," and other shouted epithets. The company had no immediate count of how many workers entered the plant.

Injured
Steve Toth of this city was injured seriously yesterday by a rock fall while working at Blue Bird 8 coal mine and was brought to the Harrisburg hospital suffering a back injury and a broken ankle.

Funeral services were held today at 2 p. m. at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church where she was a member. Rev. J. D. McCarty officiated and burial was in Sunset Hill cemetery.

The Gibbons funeral home was in charge.

Autos Damaged, No Serious Injuries In Crash on Rt. 13

Two cars were damaged extensively but injuries were not serious in the only major motor vehicle collision reported in the county over the New Year's holiday.

Hitting head-on at 3:45 p. m. Sunday on Route 13 four miles west of Harrisburg were cars driven by Della Baker, 16, Marion, going west, and Billy Jordan, 26, Harrisburg, coming toward this city.

State Policeman Roy A. Lane, who investigated, said that charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving were being filed in county court against Jordan.

Suffering minor injuries were the driver of the Marion car, Miss Baker, who sustained a mouth injury, and her sister, Lois, 17, who had four sutures taken to close a scalp laceration. Three other Marion girls were in the automobile.

Fire Damages Home; Martin Reports Others

Fire today resulted in extensive damage to a house at 605 East Elm street owned by Mrs. Walter Wright and occupied by Tammie Whitehead.

The fire department received the call around 10 a. m. and both trucks hastened to the scene to extinguish the blaze, which started in a clothes closet. Cause was not determined.

The fire was put out after the flames had burned through the clothes closet roof into the attic. The damage from fire was confined to the closet, attic and roof and to the clothing in the closet but there was water damage to contents of other parts of the house.

Fire Chief L. C. Martin reported five other fires over the New Year's holiday.

At 5:20 p. m. Saturday an auto owned by J. Gatwix was the object of a run. Service station workers across the street saw smoke inside the auto, parked in the lot at Walnut and North Main street. The fire, which was in the middle of the front seat of the car, was extinguished.

At 2 p. m. Sunday the upholstery in the wrecked car belonging to Guy Wilson, which was on the vacant lot just east of the Pankey bakery, was seen afire and the department was called to extinguish this blaze.

A run was made at 1:30 p. m. Monday to the home of Sam Stewart, 215 West Park street, where a defective fuse caused damage to floor joists.

At 2:40 p. m. yesterday a grass fire was extinguished at 11 East Maple street.

Chief Martin today again urged people to watch their rubbish fires to prevent them from spreading into grass and weed blazes.

Carbon Monoxide from Heater Fatal to Honeymooning Couple

NORLESVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A young honeymooning couple who died of asphyxiation here during the weekend will be buried side by side in their wedding clothes in Tennessee Thursday.

William Johnson, 20, and his bride, Anita, 19, died early Sunday of carbon monoxide poisoning from a faulty gas heater in a tourist home.

The couple had stopped at Noblesville for the night while driving with relatives from Tennessee to Ulica, Mich., where they planned to live.

The Johnson's wedding presents still were piled in their automobile.

Traffic Deaths Total 356 for New Year Record; Below Predictions

By United Press
An all-out campaign for safety was credited today with saving almost 70 lives on the nation's highways during New Year's week-end.

The traffic death toll set a new record for a three-day New Year's holiday—but fell far below the grim predictions.

The United Press tally from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Monday showed that 356 persons died in traffic accidents. There were 72 deaths in fires, 12 in plane crashes, 71 in miscellaneous accidents for an overall holiday death toll of 511.

"It wasn't as good as we would have liked and it wasn't as bad as we had feared," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

"But the fact that the toll ran well below our pre-holiday estimate is, we feel, a convincing demonstration that when the people want traffic safety and the law enforcement agencies give it to them, the toll will come down," Dearborn said.

Dearborn cited Chicago and Cook County, Ill., where there was only one weekend traffic death, as a "spectacular instance of this."

The traffic death count topped the record of 320 fatalities set during the three-day, 1953 New Year's holiday.

But it wasn't close to the 429 predicted by the National Safety Council, which would have set an all-time record of 621 set during "Black Christmas" week end just one week ago.

16 Dead in Illinois Traffic Toll Over New Year's Holiday

By United Press
Illinois cut its highway death toll during the New Year's weekend to less than half that of the tragic Christmas holiday.

A United Press tally from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday showed a total of 16 Illinois traffic deaths.

The Chicago Motor Club had predicted 17 deaths for the state. A week ago, 46 persons were killed in Christmas weekend traffic.

Four persons were killed in a single accident when their auto crashed into a creek bank near U. S. 6 seven miles west of Geneva Sunday.

The dead were Hilton Turner, 21, Davenport, Iowa; Oliver Hearn, 20, East Moline; Roy Welsh, 22, Geneva; and Edna Thomas, 18, Rock Island.

Four more lives were wiped out Monday when a private plane crashed in dense fog near Bloomington. The dead were Paul E. Ward, 41, of Hinsdale; his wife, Harriet, 38; and their daughters, June, 14, and Sharon, 9.

Meanwhile, a head-on collision near Olney killed Charles C. Austin, 29, Lake Park, and injured three others.

Among deaths in miscellaneous accidents was that of Mrs. Thomas Varnoy, 39, Ottawa. She slipped on the beam of her party dress at a New Year's Party Sunday and broke her neck in a fall down a flight of stairs.

Mrs. Margaret Ella Nason, 50, Springfield, died Sunday of burns received when an oil stove exploded in her home the day before.

C. H. Moser, 85, Dies at Rileyville

Charles H. Moser, 85, died at 5 a. m. today at the home of his son, Gussie Moser, at Rileyville.

The body lies in state at the Courtney funeral home and funeral plans are incomplete.

Besides his son, Gussie, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Helen Idegrigs, St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Mabel Hunt, Taylorville.

House, Senate Both Recess Until Thursday

State of Union Message Will Be Read by Clerks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second session of the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress opened today in holiday mood but with election year politics already beginning to simmer.

Cavels calling the lawmakers to order were banged promptly at 11 a. m. CST by Speaker Sam Rayburn in the House and by Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Senate. Chaplains prayed, the rolls were called, and Congress again was ready for business.

Nothing much besides routine was on the opening day agenda. This was just as well, since members milled in the aisles, shaking hands and exchanging greetings, almost precluding the transaction of business.

The good feelings, as always at the start of a session, was bipartisan. The exclamations of pleasure and well-wishing were in apparent disregard of party lines.

This seemed unlikely to last. The political charges and counter charges of a presidential and congressional election year already were beginning to sound, and were sure to get steadily louder.

Recess Until Thursday
House members lost no time in starting to drop in the Copper bills on some of the issues that will be fought steadily between now and election day. Senators, by custom, don't introduce bills until after the President's State of the Union message.

The message will be read by clerks on Thursday rather than delivered personally by the President who is recuperating from his heart attack at Key West, Fla.

Both chambers recessed after today's brief sessions until Thursday.

Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.), in one of the few speeches prepared for delivery on opening day, called for a halt to all further foreign aid in order to give Americans a tax cut.

"Foreign aid today is a failure and a fraud," Mason said. "It should be cut off entirely. Isn't it about time for this Congress to think more about the American taxpayers and less about the foreign taxpayer?"

House bill clerks expected a flood of 200 to 300 bills on opening day and figured they would not be able to work their way through them, in preparation for making them public, before Wednesday.

Advance announcements from members showed the measures covered almost every front. Proposals for floor control and federal disaster insurance—outgrowth of floods and storms in New England, New York and the West Coast—got considerable play.

The lawmakers figured that the outcome of presidential and congressional balloting on Nov. 6 may hinge on what they do this year on such controversial vote-getting issues as cutting taxes, boosting farm income, liberalizing social security, and building new highways and schools.

Hold Three Men For $1,000 Robbery At Carbondale

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (AP)—Jackson County authorities held three men from Chicago today for the $1,000 robbery of a Carbondale theater Monday.

Sylvester Hodge, Albert McGary and John White were charged with armed robbery. The sheriff's office said White formerly worked at the theater that was robbed.

The men, in their early 30s, entered the Varsity Theater at 7:30 a. m. and tied up two janitors. When Manager John Corbiers arrived they forced him at gunpoint to open the safe and tied him up.

Corbiers got free and notified police. Meanwhile, state patrolman Gerald Miller of Du Quin noticed the men acting strangely when they passed him on the highway. He notified his headquarters and other state police intercepted and arrested the three men at Coopersville.

The body lies in state at the Turner funeral home where services will be held at 4 p. m. to be announced later. Rev. Johnny Ganns will conduct the funeral and burial will be in the Dorrisville cemetery.

Dramatics in UN

Editorial by Bruce Bissat Seldom in its short life has the United Nations experienced so dramatic a change as occurred when,
by a single stroke, the General Assembly admitted 16 new members to raise its family total to 76.

Not since 1950 had the U. N.
opened its doors to any new member. Admission of many countries was long overdue. Only the characteristic stubbornness of the Soviet Union had barred their way.

Indeed, a little more than 24 hours before the 16 newcomers were accepted Russia had slammed the door 13 times against proposed initiates. The net effect was to block the entry of four others already tentatively approved.
Russia's action was in retaliation for Nationalist China's veto of membership for Outer Mongolia, a Soviet puppet state carved out on the northern fringe of mainland China.

In the sense that the U. N. is now a more complete world organization, the addition of 16 members represents an advance. It does not, however, modify U. N. weakness inherent in its charter, nor alter the fact of U. S. power control in the agency.

Some feel the Russians switched on the admissions issue because they feared their mass veto of 13 countries might not square well with the image of themselves as reasonable and peace-promoting,
which they push in many areas.
Others think the Kremlin engineered the whole affair as a device for claiming credit as the decisive factor in letting the bars down.

In any event, they executed an overnight reversal that allowed an admission of four Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania—and 12 other countries—
Jordan, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Australia, Finland, Ceylon, Nepal, Libya, Cambodia, Laos and Spain.

Excluded were two countries contained in the original "package"
deal—Japan and Outer Mongolia.
In the end, the Russians made it an eye for an eye, instead of 13
eyes for one.

It is more regrettable that Japan,
a nation of paramount importance in Asia and the world, with 83 million people crowding its Pacific isles, should have been the principal victim of East-West strategic maneuvering within the U. N.

Japan's friends in the West can only hope that it will be properly admitted in the not distant future,
under altered circumstances.

The foreign affairs experts may argue for a good while over how much blame will finally attach to Chiung Kai-shek for the veto that dumped the original 18-nation package. There is some opinion that this move will hurt Nationalist China's chances of holding its U. N.
seat much longer.

There is also more than a little feeling that for all its high-browedness the Soviet Union in the end came off better than the United States. Some observers say we never took a clear initiative, that we shifted our ground frequently, that our very great influence was never wisely brought to bear.

Whatever the proper verdict on these maneuvers, the beyond dispute fact is that the original switch was markedly different from one of its goals—that of having a truly universal organization representative of all peoples.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON PRE-DICITS: No War in 1956; Ike
Will Not Run Again; Prime Minister Eden Will Resign.

WASHINGTON.—Here are my predictions for the year 1956:
In Europe—Konrad Adenauer,
the grand old man of West Germany, will step down during the year and be replaced by Fritz Schaefer, who will not be the strong man Adenauer is. Schaefer will begin talks with the East German Communists and Russia to unite Germany, whether we like it or not.

Sir Anthony Eden, whose health is worse than the public realizes,
will take a much less active part in the British government. The chief duties of prime minister will be performed by R. A. Butler, and by late 1956 or early 1957 Eden
will resign.

The Far East.—Red China
will not be admitted to the United Nations this year. UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has secured the backing of enough friendly UN members to guarantee this until after the November elections.

Lodge has reported that he can hold the fort until after elections as long as Ambassador Dulles and the President by attacks from Senator Knowland and right-wing Republicans. After November, however, I predict Red China will be admitted to the UN, probably in early 1957.

Next spring or summer, Red China will begin its long awaited attack on Quemoy and Matsu—unless John Foster Dulles agrees to meet with Premier Chou En-Lai.
Which is unlikely. When the attack comes, the U. S. 7th Fleet will not intervene, and the Matsus
will be captured by the Chinese.

This will bring demands for war.
I predict Eisenhower will not be drawn into war.

Business. For '56—Business during the first part of 1956 will boom. But toward the middle of the year, auto sales will fall off and homebuilding will slump. Fewer babies were born in the depression years and these babies,
now 23 and 24, now getting married, buy fewer homes. So a slump is due for the midyear.

However, I predict the Eisenhower administration will dust off its public-works plans reminiscent of Harold Ickes' PWA days. In addition Congress will pass a highway bill and a school-construction bill, so business throughout the election year will continue good.

Farmers. Congress will pass a 90 per cent parity price support program for the six basic farm crops—wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, rice, tobacco. This will be done despite Eisenhower's threat of a veto. But I predict the President in the end will not veto. His GOP advisers will warn that a veto would mean the entire midwest would vote Democrat whether he vetoed or not.

Foreign Control.—In Congress,
there will be a terrific battle between the military lobby and food-control proponents over dams to prevent floods in New England,
eastern Pennsylvania and the far west. In the far west, the back-ers of flood control will win. Multi-purpose dams will be voted for.

Flood control, irrigation and cheap
electric power—despite the public-utility lobbies.

But in the east, I predict the utility lobby will be too strong. It will have the support of such GOP senators as Bridges of New Hampshire, Payne of Maine, Martin of Pennsylvania; so no real flood control will be voted for the east.
Instead, Senator Lehman of New York will put across a weak palliative in the form of flood insurance.

Taxes, etc.—Congress I predict will vote a very modest tax relief for low-income groups only,
a modest amendment to the Mc-Carran-Walter Immigration Act,
some federal relief for coal-mine
and textile areas, a civil-rights compromise abolishing the poll tax
but with no FEPC; big increases for health, particularly heart and cancer research; more public housing and slum clearance.

New Highways.—The highway
bill will be voted without a bond issue to finance them, which won't please budget-balancer George Humphrey or the banks, which claimed to make about a billion in interest on long-term highway bonds. Democratic leaders will insist that the highways be financed out of the current budget.

New Schools.—The school-construction bill will face heavy opposing partly as a result of segregation. Northern congressmen will tack an amendment on the school bill banning funds to any state that doesn't carry out the Supreme Court's mandate for segregation.
This will defeat the school bill the first time around. However, Speaker Sam Rayburn will bring the bill up again and it will pass
in modified form.

Scandals.—The year 1956 will see scandals headlined in both political parties. Attorney General Brownell will indict three more members of the Truman administration and try to prosecute two Pennsylvania politicians in connection with a military contract.
The Democrats will expose glaring favoritism in the Federal Communications Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.
They will also show wartime negligence in the Interior Department and will demand the resignation or impeachment of Secretary of the Interior McKay. Senator Kefaurver will also go over Brownell's head and demand the appointment of Senate attorneys to prosecute those guilty of Dixon-Yates, Harold Talbot, and Peter Strickland conflicts of interest.

Presidential Race.—In the Intermediate President Eisenhower will announce that he will not run again.
This will knock off a bad slump
in the Republican Party, and a victorious attempt to elect Chief Justice Warren will be evened out by the Democrats. In the end, a dark horse will win the nomination.

On the Democratic side, Adlai Stevenson will let the nomination go, but Harry Truman, once having against Senator Knowland, this time will throw his support to Kefaurver for vice president. A Stevenson-Kefauver ticket will go to the White House.

Peace Or War.—Eisenhower and Bulganin will continue their travels, and visit England, France and Italy in '56, winning a certain

New Quads 'Too Late' to Give Father Tax Aid

LANCASTER, Pa., Pa.—The quadruplet sons of a 365-a-week drug store clerk and his wife were "doing fine" today but their surprised father still was a little shaky.

Norman C. Hohenwarter said he "would welcome" additional work to help support his suddenly enlarged family and bemoaned the fact that his "four twins," although born prematurely, came too late to qualify him for additional deductions on his 1955 income tax.

"No, no one's offered any better job or any kind of financial help," the 26-year-old father said before going to work as usual today. "I haven't even stopped to think about what we are going to do when my wife and the babies get home."

"The one thing I'd like now is to get additional work to take care of this big family."

Hohenwarter felt the hospital wasn't really ready for the quads. "We were expecting twins, so it really came as a surprise to everybody," he said.

The boys, baptized Norman Charles, Carl Conrad, Philip John, and Mark Anthony at the hospital, by priests from St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church here, were born Monday morning.

Hospital authorities said the infants were "doing fine" and had a good chance to survive. They were not weighed immediately but nurses estimated they weighed from three to four pounds each. They were placed in an incubator soon after their birth.

Attendants at Lancaster General hospital also reported their mother, 26-year-old Regina Hohenwarter was "doing nicely."

Magistrate Orders Railroad to Quit Blocking Traffic

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — A police magistrate today gave a railroad a week to "get your house in order" after a wave of community protest against trains blocking traffic.

The case came to the court after retired railroad engineer C. L. Ogden filed charges against the railroad which formerly employed him. The warrant was served on Merwin E. Gustavson, vice president of the Chicago & Illinois Midland Railroad, as an officer of the company.

Ogden and four other witnesses appeared today before Police Magistrate William D. Conway. Ogden testified trains had held him up at crossings for periods ranging from 15-45 minutes. The other witnesses gave similar accounts.

Gustavson did not appear but a railroad attorney said some of the delays were caused by operations of other railroads which cross C&IM tracks.

Asst. City Atty John Sheehan said the city intended to enforce an ordinance limiting blocking of intersections to 10 minutes. Conway said he had received "numerous" letters and telephone calls backing Ogden's charges, and about the railroad's operations.

One letter from an employee of a nearby industrial plant said the railroad had been giving the plant, and his union a "song and dance" but does nothing about it.

The engineers laugh at us from the criss of the trains," the letter said. "Give this fellow (Gustavson) one of your good Irish talking to's."

Conway told the railroad attorney he would have one week to meet with other railroads and "stop this business of blocking traffic."

STRATTON THANKS
Motorists; Praises
National Guard

SPRINGFIELD (CP) — Gov. William G. Stratton today said the favorable results of using National Guardmen to supplement the state police force during last weekend will probably result in similar use of guardsmen on future holiday weekends.

Stratton thanked the motoring
public for its caution and the "cooperating agencies who so generously gave of their time for the all-out effort toward safe driving."

State Adj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle
said the 215 National Guardsmen called out for traffic patrol were released at midnight. He said all the guardsmen called "turned out and functioned very efficiently."

Boyle said state police officers told him the guardsmen did "an outstanding job throughout" and that one state police officer commented he didn't know what they would have done without them.

WASHINGTON (CP) — House
Democratic Leader John W. Mc-Cormack said today congressional investigations this year will be aimed primarily at "big business control of government" under the Eisenhower administration.

The Massachusetts legislator cited as particularly ripe for investigation:

1. The award of billions of dollars in defense orders by secret, negotiated contract.

2. The "gradual destruction of small business."

Democratic-controlled investigations also will be aimed at what Democrats claim is the "give-away" of natural resources and the administration's "unfair loyalty-securing procedures."

Air Force Opens Up Enlistments For January

For the first time in six months, the United States Air Force has opened wide the door to voluntary enlistment in the Air Force. This was announced today by M-Sgt. Peter F. Demediuk, local Air Force recruiter for this area, that is, recruits can be enlisted locally during January. This is an increase of 11 more than were enlisted during December when the monthly quota was held to four.

M-Sgt. Demediuk stated that the new opportunities for training and service in the Air Force arise through the need to meet the 137-wing goal authorized last year by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Congress.

During the past six months, Air Force recruiting offices had to cease taking enlistments upon reaching their monthly quota. As a result, many local men who wished to join the Air Force were denied the opportunity.

M-Sgt. Demediuk stated the local area men enlisting in January will be sent to Parks Air Force Base, Pleasanton, Calif., for the first phase of basic training prior to technical training afforded enlistees.

Full information concerning the opportunity for enlistment in the Air Force during January can be had by contacting M-Sgt. Peter F. Demediuk at the American Legion building, 20 South Main street, Harrisburg, Ill., or phone Harrisburg 1061.

THE STORY: Bad luck has dogged the cruise of the whaler Obis since it left Salem. Two men were killed when the first whale was sighted. Later the steward Blaggen broached the ship's fresh stores to make illicit rum for the crew. Now Capt. Jered Naish has been injured in another encounter with a pod of whales.

XVII

Larned aided Mr. Wilson while the bones were set, and Oliphant had made the spinals, remained in the cabin to help. Morrow was also present, withdrawn in a corner and by his expression determined not to show emotion. Tears were on Morrow's cheeks, though, and he trembled as if in personal pain.

He must have been bellowing, then, Naish thought. It was his hurt that had made Morrow weep. You're a weak nincompoop. Yet the pillow that had been put under his head felt very soft. He drifted out over a wide river of fantasy. It led him among green meadows, under willows where water bugs skittered with delicate alacrity. Phoebe held his hand; she was with him; he could all but hear her voice.

He and Phoebe walked through a grove. The trees were white birches, bent and contorted yet by the weight of winter. Thin spring sunlight came obliquely upon the birches, penetrated in arcs and arabesques that met, dissolved, reformed in mid-air. The brook ran clattering, almost shouting past them. A rind of gray ice was along the bank. But Phoebe bent down and found violets among the leaf mould.

The brass hook that held the cabin door part open was lifted. His motions were as precise, as calm as those of a trained woman. He bathed Naish's face, stroked back the sweat-soaked hair. He sat up in the bunk with supreme effort and gazed around the cabin. The glare reached down the companionway and laid a garish spangle upon the floor. "The ship's afloat. I feel the heat. Rouse all hands. The pumps—"

"Now, sir, lay back," Alfie said. "It's the tryworks yer see. A-bilin' down the second critter is wot they're doin'."

"Very well." He was fully conscious of Alfie's presence; he desired to express his gratitude. But the pain prevented him. He slipped away into delirium.

Bare feet sucked and slipped on the companion ladder. Alfie said, "Mr. Wilson was soaked with sweat blood, oil. He stood in the companion way and stared sidewise at Alfie. "How is he?"

"Orf 'is biscuit," Alfie whispered.

Mr. Wilson walked to the side of the bunk to look down at Naish's fevered eyes. "Wind's 'bout to pick up. Shall I cut loose or hold on?"

"Hold on!" Naish cried at him. "Work the pumps. Whale, that's what we're here for, mister. Whale. I give it as a standing order. Fill the ship just as fast as you can."

Mr. Wilson sidled backwards a pace. He cursed Alfie low-voiced. "That ain't the talk of a man out of 'is head."

It was the wind that restored

Naish. Through the storms that lasted during most of his illness he found strength to recoup.

In the last phases of his illness, when the delirium had left him and he could again think with reasonable clarity, Mr. Bothwick had brought him the navigation problems to check. The ship, according to Mr. Bothwick's calculations and the dead reckoning of the other mates, was already well to the southward of St. Paul's Rock, the last place in the wastes of the South Atlantic where fresh stores were available.

Naish realized with an overwhelming sense of shock that there was no chance to coast back to St. Paul's. The prevailing northeast wind prevented that. Neither could he make landfall on any of the settlements of the Argentine coast. They were being driven day after day, night after chill and dolorous night toward Cape Horn.

Scurvy was in the ship. There were half a dozen healthy men left to stand wheel watch, and none able to go aloft to work. Mr. Wilson, while Naish had been delirious, had literally obeyed the order about hunting whale. The hold was nearly full to the coamings with prime oil. But the fruits and vegetables that would have prevented scurvy had been denied to the crew.

The last of the stuff had been served to him without his cognizance. He needed it, the men had argued, and they'd make do on the salt horse junk, the weevily biscuit and the rotten, sprouting potatoes. But Mr. Wilson wasn't blamed. It was the steward, the Limehouse Blaggen, who'd got into the stores and used them for his own profit.

While the men had still retained some of their energy they went forward to where Blaggen was held in the fore lazarette. "They were extraordinarily enraged," Mr. Bothwick told Naish. "Fear was at the base of that, I imagine. I must admit, sir, that I have shared their feeling."

Because Mr. Bothwick meticulously had taken the trouble to explain about Blaggen, Naish said, "How is the steward, Mister?"

"Dead, sir. Five days back. You'll find the entry in the log when I get around to writing it."

"The scurvy?"

"No, sir. He hanged himself."

"So the lads didn't finish him."

Mr. Bothwick wanly smiled. "I drove them off with a pistol."

At the moment, I considered myself quite heroic.

May Ask Probe Of Gap in Farm, Retail Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) said today he may ask Congress to investigate the widening gap between farm and retail food prices.

Young made the statement after publication of an Agriculture Department survey which attributed increased marketing costs mostly to industrial wage increases. The report said middlemen's profits are not a factor.

The effect of factory workers' wage hikes on the farmer's dwindling share of the consumer's food dollar has been argued hotly in recent weeks. Farm prices are a major issue in the early stages of the presidential campaign.

Young, a key member of the Senate Agriculture committee, said he doubts if labor costs have been as much a factor in the farm price situation as the survey indicates. "I understand that profits of processors are at an all-time high," he said.

The report, issued by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson Monday, said profits of a group of large food processors, wholesalers and retailers have "grown substantially" since 1945. It added the increases were due primarily to increased sales by the concerns.

"The spread has widened primarily because of the substantial increase in all costs of performing marketing services since 1945," the report said. "Wage rates are up almost 50 per cent over 1945. Freight rates and other costs—packaging material, containers, fuel, equipment, rents, etc.—are up about two-thirds."

The report said "labor costs are the largest single item in the operating costs of most food marketing firms."

Heavy Snows Drive Hungry Wolves, Foxes, Occasional Bear Into Duluth

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Duluth residents unconcernedly shared their streets and sidewalks today with hungry wolves, foxes, and an occasional bear.

Heavy snows have driven the animals into the city looking for food. Gaunt wolves have been seen stalking the streets, a man had to

Ex-Treasurer of U. S. Forced to Open Bank Vault

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark Gray, former treasurer of the United States, was held prisoner for about an hour Monday night by three men who forced her to open the vault at the bank which she heads here.

Officers said the bandits obtained approximately $2,000 from the Richland State Bank, of which Mrs. Gray is president, and an additional $750 from the general store operated by Mrs. Gray and her husband, Andrew J. Gray.

Mrs. Gray told a reporter the men did not threaten her life. Composed, but with tension in her voice, she turned back all other questions.

Officers said the three men, armed with 45 caliber pistols, appeared at the Gray home and left Gray bound and gagged while Mrs. Gray accompanied them to the bank. She later was released unharmed, and the men fled in the Grays' station wagon. It later was found abandoned near here.

Three men said to answer the general description of the bandits were arrested early today at El Dorado, Kan., and Mrs. Gray rushed there in an attempt to identify them. However, Mrs. Gray said they were not the bandits and they were released, the El Dorado police department reported.

shoot a bobcat in his garage, and a woman complained to police that there was a bear in her backyard.

But most Duluth residents took a bo-hum attitude about the invasion. It happens every time the food supply in the nearby northern Minnesota woods runs short, they said.

Occasionally they have had to take action. One man got out of his car and killed a wolf with a hammer when he saw it wandering only two blocks from the downtown section Saturday. Monday, a fox was shot within the city limits.

But the bear incident was the only local eyebrow-raiser. "Bears are supposed to be sound asleep hibernating at this time of year," Duluth residents said. When they turn up in town this early, it's supposed to be a sign of an early spring.

In the summertime, bears become so numerous that one once crashed into a restaurant one year and the city had to set up "bear cafeterias" another time.

The Duluth Hotel's "Black Bear Lounge" is named in honor of a hungry, 350-pound bear who crashed through the coffee shop window one August morning. He was brought down by a police bullet as he made for the kitchen and his body is now mounted in the hotel lounge.

In 1949, more than 50 bears were killed in Duluth. They became such a nuisance that "bear cafeterias" feeding stations were set up on the outskirts of town.

Sen. Kefauver Urges Tax Cut For the Voters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic presidential candidate Estes Kefauver says he wants election-year tax cuts for the voters.

The Tennessee senator said although he is against any "great" tax reduction, "We ought to give a small additional exemption to voters" if a tax cut is feasible.

He said part of the revenue loss could be regained from higher taxes on stockholders.

Kefauver, in a radio interview, also said he is seriously considering entering the Florida and Minnesota primaries against Adlai E. Stevenson.

Kefauver said there is "quite a field" of issues on which Democrats will differ with Republicans in the election-year session of the 84th Congress, which began today.

Kefauver said he favors a "substantial" increase in foreign economic aid this year. Asked whether this might rule out a tax cut, he said "that may be the situation."

Lists Top Issues

But if it is possible to make a reduction, he said, then he thinks voters should be given a small increase in their $600 income tax exemption. He proposed repealing the special tax dividend credit granted stockholders by the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress.

Kefauver was asked whether he meant to include "non-voters" as well as "voters" in his proposed tax cut. He said everybody "ought to be a voter" and he has heard it argued that "if they don't vote maybe they ought to pay a little more tax."

However, an aide said later that Kefauver meant the proposed cut to apply to all taxpayers and, not just to those exercising their voting privilege.

He listed the top issues in Congress as farm, housing, resource development, social security, education, school construction, and "the way our foreign policy is being carried out." He said the conduct of foreign affairs will be a major issue in the presidential election campaign.

For this Buick is tagged within a few dollars of the well-known smaller cars—and actually costs less than some models of those very same cars. The price we show here proves it.

So maybe you can understand why Buick—for two years running now—has outsold every other car in the land, except two of those well-known smaller cars.

But low price is just part of the picture.

Big reason for Buick's soaring sales sweep is that folks are finding here a lot more automobile for the money—more style boldness, more power thrill, more ride stability and more solid structure than the same dollars buy elsewhere.

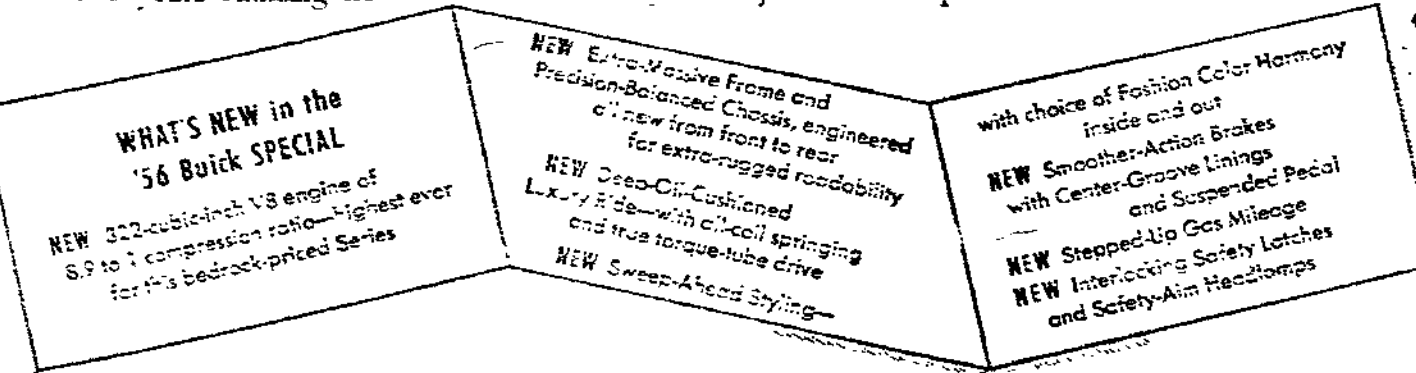

Just ask yourself: wouldn't you rather go traveling with the lift and life and pace and poise of a stunning new Buick—when it's all yours at just about the price of a smaller car?

If your answer is yes, then the time is now—right now.

Drop in on us this very week—tomorrow would be fine—and we'll seat you at the wheel of the biggest and most beautiful bundle of high-powered Buick ever offered in America's low-price field.

Michigan S., Oklahoma, Georgia Tech Winners in Big Bowl Grid Contests

Spartans Defeat UCLA With Field Goal In Final Seconds

By United Press
Michigan State won its final seconds with a surprise hero, Oklahoma, with a relentless "stop watch" offense, and Georgia Tech on a controversial play to make the New Year's football bowl show a brilliant start for the 1956 college season.
Dave Kaiser, an end who never before had kicked a field goal in college, booted a 41-yarder with just seven seconds to go to give Michigan State a 17-14 triumph over UCLA in the Rose Bowl Monday. Kaiser's kick set off such a wave of excitement that the official scorer credited it to Gerry Pannits while 100,809 fans groaned and cheered in the huge Pasadena, Calif., stadium.

Oklahoma also used time efficiently to whip Maryland, 20-6, before 70,881 fans in Miami's Orange Bowl game. Coach Bud Wilkinson's superbly conditioned Sooners ran a play every 25 seconds in the third quarter against the befuddled Terps. The Sooners erased a 6-0 halftime deficit and won going away to prove their right to the ranking of No. 1 college team of 1955.

Georgia Tech took prompt advantage of a break and defeated Pittsburgh, 7-0, in the Sugar Bowl before 80,175 fans. Early in the first quarter, the officials ruled that Bobby Grier—the first Negro ever to play in the New Orleans game—interfered with end Don Ellis' attempt to catch a pass on the Pitt one yard line. Quarterback Wade Mitchell scored the game's only TD two plays later after Tech got the ball at the point on the infraction.

Wins on Extra Point

Mississippi eked out a 14-13 victory over Texas Christian in the other major game before 75,574 Cotton Bowl rooters at Dallas. Tex. Billy Lott ran five yards to tie the score after quarterback Eagle Day gambled and won in a fourth-down-and-three situation in the final quarter. Paige Cothren, who scored the first Mississippi TD, then kicked the decisive extra point.

Wyoming scored twice in the last five minutes to upset Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., 21-14. Prairie View (Tex.) crushed Fisk (Tenn.) in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex., 59-0; and Juniata (Pa.) and Missouri Valley (Mo.) tied, 6-6, in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., in Monday's other games.

The day's biggest crowd and millions of TV viewers watched Michigan State climax a thriller by scoring the Big Ten's ninth triumph in 10 Rose Bowl clashes with Pacific Coast conference teams.

Michigan State had taken a 14-7 lead on Clarence Peaks' 67-yard scoring pass to John Lewis in the first minute of the final quarter. But Doug Peters pulled UCLA even with a two-yard plunge after Ronnie Knox put the ball in position with a 47-yard pass to Jim Decker. The tension mounted then as Pannits missed a field goal bid for the second time in the game.

UCLA took over on its 20 but was forced back to its one on two penalties. Knox kicked out. Then while the crowd stood and roared Kaiser booted the first field goal of his collegiate career.

Ed Vereb's 15-yard sprint gave Maryland a 6-0 halftime lead. But Oklahoma won its 20th straight victory on third quarter TDs by Tommy McDonald and Jay O'Neal with a different Sooners eleven recording each score. Carl Dodd stole a fourth quarter pass and raced 8 yards for the final Oklahoma touch down.

Georgia Tech collected only 142 yards against Pitt's 311 but stopped the Panthers on its one in the first half and on its five as the game ended.

Jim Swink, the nation's leading major college scorer in 1955, scored twice in a losing game for TCU as Mississippi won on Cothren's accurate conversions.

ANYTHING FOR A BASKET—OR A LAUGH—Basketball rules were "thrown out the window" Saturday night when the Harlem Globetrotters came to Harrisburg to stage an exhibition, with the Honolulu Hawaiians the "straight men" for the Trotters' antics. When the Trotters wanted to play straight basketball they displayed exceptional ability, but the near capacity crowd at Davenport gymnasium wanted entertainment and the Trotters came up with plenty of comedy routines to give the crowd lots of hearty laughs. One of the funnier routines came at the end of the game when Murphy Summers, the dribbling ace of the group, hopped on the shoulders of Bill "Rookie" Brown, took a long, high pass and dropped the ball through the hoop.

Harlem Globetrotters Put On Good Exhibition Before Large Crowd

The Harlem Globetrotters came to town Saturday night and gave a good account of themselves before fans from this area at Davenport gym. About 2,500 attended.

The show came just exactly as it had been billed—all one play-ers and entertainers that had been publicized were here.

Score of the game between the Globetrotters and the Honolulu Hawaiians was incidental—the crowd went to be entertained—but for the record the Trotters won, 78-71. They clinched all the way except in the third quarter.

And the Surf Riders, a squad of eight composed of five Hawaiians and three others, were an earnest lot, with a couple of very good hits.

Biggest Trotter attraction was Meadow Leaboy, a 22-year-old lad who hasn't been around the circuit long but who likes to run up his yardage.

Being a good job of imitating the "Boss" Henderson considered inevitable.

Getting his share of a limelight was Bill "Rookie" Brown, the player turned comedian who was with the Trotters. Brown is a good basketball player and showed he could run, pass, shoot and dribble.

Good Entertainment
Offering to players was Murphy Summers, an evolution dribbler, and Willie Thomas, tallest man in the league.

The game was played according to basketball rules, but no other team ever turned the ball over so often.

Carrier Mills Graders Win Two Games From Shawneetown
The Carrier Mills grade school basketball team took two decisions from Shawneetown Monday night. The games were played at Carrier Mills.

In the preliminary game the home team won by a count of 49-29 on a 10-point margin. The game back with a 29-47 victory in the main game.

Score in the main game—Shawneetown 47, Carrier Mills 29. Shooters 10, Winner 10, Smith 4, Schermer 3, Barker 2, Carrier Mills 2, Felt 2, Felt 2, VanDyke 2, Williams 2, Felt 4, Green 2 and Shelton 6.

Carrier Mills plays at Davenport Thursday.

Illinois Shows Class in 73-65 Conference Win Over Michigan State

By United Press
In case there was any doubt left, Illinois is the team to beat in the Big Ten basketball race.

The Illini became the fifth-ranked basketball power in the nation on the basis of their fine holiday season performances. And Monday night they showed class and determination in coming from behind and whipping Michigan State, 73-65.

In other initial conference games, Indiana ran into difficulty before it defeated Northwestern, 94-81; Ohio State downed Michigan, 79-56; and Purdue outscored Wisconsin, 78-66.

The Illinois-Michigan State contest saw the Illini get off to a slow start as the Spartans piled up a 20-3 lead. The Illini then worked into a 51-51 tie after 12 minutes in the second half and never trailed from that point.
